Nashville Parent Magazine "Enough songs, stories, jokes and positivity to keep your kids listening, laughing, humming and dancing for a long while. One of the best children's recordings I've heard to date." CASA Gazette, A United Nations publication "Very few of today's children's performers seem to understand and appreciate exactly where children are in the 'developmental' scheme of things. Sumner does--and she shows it, with lots of fun-filled, diverse music and an attitude that doesn't talk down to kids." Chicago Parent This recording has been honored with three national awards (Parents' Choice, Parent Council Seal and Parent's Guide Children's Media Award). This recording was also a top five finalist for two awards in 1999. It honored with as a Nashville Music Award Finalist for Best Children's Recording and a Children's Music Web finalist for Best Classic Music for Young Children (the only award truly selected by children). Rachel Sumner's music videos were featured regularly for years on The Learning Channel Monday-Friday mornings on Ready, Set, Learn during Short Stuff.
