Hard Electronica will elements of Progressive House, Dance, and Trance 10 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: House, ELECTRONIC: Dance Details: Development for Pulsatile Affect began summer 2005 and has advanced into an original Electronica/Progressive House compilation released to fans this fall. Inspiration came from self-driven ideas and a passion for original sound synthesis and electronic movement. Mixing instruments and devices in real time, through live studio sessions with 7th Street Garage, provided Radius a new dimension of creativity, sound, and inspiration unique to his album. Their work is featured in "Nixon's Flint" and "Cosmic Jungle." Vincent Chiamonte, of the band Kurst, enhances the album with his ambient guitar tones and innovative hooks on the track "Chimera." "Wiggle Free" and "Immaculate Sunrise" feature the vocal talents of newcomers Maxi and Krissy, respectively. Their debut performances will no doubt be their last. The remix of "Saturated Vision," a Radius 2004 Winter Music Conference release, is also featured on this album. Pulsatile Affect begins with atmospheric twists bathed in heavy analog distortion in "Shredded Vinyl" and ends with powerful baselines in "System Shakedown" leaving listeners anticipating the next release.
