The newest release from the singer and songwriter of Animal Logic showcases stunning vocals, catchy melodies, witty and poignant lyrics about sex, drugs, motherhood and staying sane in a post-911 world all wrapped in an acoustic and electronic swirl. 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, ROCK: Americana Details: Deborah Holland returns with her long-awaited fourth solo album, BAD GIRL ONCE. Its title track, a buoyant ode to wild days gone by, sets the stage for an album that effortlessly crosses genres but still showcases her as a lyrical ironist to match Warren Zevon. (R. Deitz, Sing Out! magazine) The albums mix of samples and loops with acoustic instruments blends styles as diverse as folk, rock, blues, jazz, and electronica all strikingly unified by Deborahs voice. Deborahs tremendous singing and songwriting talents were first introduced via two critically acclaimed albums with the trio Animal Logic (rounded out by Stewart Copeland [Police] and jazz great Stanley Clarke). Subsequent duets with Jackson Browne and Glen Phillips (Toad the Wet Sprocket) as well as her first two solo releases broadened her audience and found her venturing into the acoustic genre. THE BOOK OF SURVIVAL, Hollands third solo release, was praised by diverse media such as the LA Weekly and Dirty Linen and received radio play on WXPB, WUMB, Mountain Stage, WDET, WFHP, and others. BAD GIRL ONCE is the first release from the newly-formed independent label, RageOn Records. The albums roster of Deborah-penned songs is rounded out by two covers, Beach Boys classic Sloop John B and Stephen Fosters Hard Times (Come Again No More), traditional songs which are recharged here by Deborahs modern loop-sample arrangements. Additionally, the track On My Way was co-written with Grammy award-winning singer-songwriter Wendy Waldman. Deborah will be touring nationally beginning in Fall 2006. As a wordsmith, Deborah Holland concerns herself with the balance between heart and mind. As an artist, she makes the balance seem effortless. --Pamela Murray Winters, Dirty Linen magazine
