A blend of noise, timings, horns, and melody drive this post rock trio 7 MP3 Songs ROCK: Math Rock, ROCK: Noise Details: Formed in Portland, OR in august of 2001. Alex Meade, with a previously recorded demo, met Pete Bryant. Pete then laid down new bass lines and the two began to create new material for the collective project. Alex's background of noise/melody writing and Pete's intricate bass playing continued while seeking a percussionist with the right feel and balance. After trying out many drummers, the band met focused drummer, Brian Netherton. With a common taste for inventive rock music, Glance Failed employs odd-timed distorted harmonies blended with melodic vocals. As of 03', Alex and Pete have been implementing the use of alto sax and trumpet. These instruments will be on the latest tunes as well as performed at live venues. The project's non-traditional tastes and style range from a subtle current to an abrasive clamor.
