His music is based upon the art of appropriation, also known as sampling, which involves the mixing of various pre recorded sources, which are chopped, stretched and edited before being recontextualized and collaged together to make new and relevant compositions out of the past. Quite simply, PG-13 collaborates with the history of recorded music to invent new music, which is both enchanting and emotive. He has performed at venues such as the New Yorican Caf, the Rubell Family Collection, and Miami Art Central, and with recognized artists Jimmy Edgar (Warp Records), 000 (Planet Mu), and Otto Von Shirach, each time providing the listener with the chance to embrace the sonic history of man while delving in to the prehistoric future.
