She was born in Canada and moved to Alaska with her family to live on the Yukon River in an Athabascan Indian village as missionaries. Adele sang her first solo at the age of six. Her father is a long time Alaskan bush pilot of whom she sings about in the song Wings of Love. Adele has sold thousands of CDs in the US as well as in Europe. She has received both radio and Internet airplay. Her songs, Its That Time of Year, Where Are Your Treasures, Live For Me Mama and Pretty Is were all award winning songs in the Alaska Song of the Year contest. She has two full length CDs; From My Heart, a collection of all original songs that reflect Adeles positive and inspirational look on lifes experiences and Its The Time of Year, a Christmas collection of both traditional and original tunes. Adele is a singer who writes her own lyrics and music. She is also an arranger and producer. She started writing jingles for radio in 1992 and in 1999 developed her own music label, Blondetone MUSIC. Her singing led her to Nashville after winning a vocal contest held in her home state. The grand prize consisted of a free trip to Nashville and the chance to network with the best in the business. After making the decision not to pursue a contract with a major label, Adele returned home to Alaska to continue her role as wife /mother and singer /songwriter. To further her education in the music business she returned to Nashville several times where she attended business workshops, awards shows, major label showcases and learned valuable information about being a successful Independent Artist. Her performing experience is as diverse as her audiences. From eight to eighty years old, Morgan has songs that seem to entertain and move both the young and old. Adele has performed in the small villages of Alaska and has also shared the stage with national artists like Petra, The Kry and Greg X Volz, Chuck Swindoll and political dignitaries such as Senators, Governors and Mayors from all over the United States. Adele has devoted much of her time and performances to benefit charity organizations, which include the Veterans of Alaska, Breast Cancer Awareness, The Childrens House, Crisis Pregnancy Centers, American Diabetes Association and Local Senior Centers. She also continues to work part-time for her church in Wasilla, Alaska. Prior to committing full-time to music, Morgan worked as a substitute teacher in the local high schools and middle schools Music and P.E. Departments. She also worked as a high school volleyball coach in her community for 10 years and led her team to a 4A State Championship title in 2002. Adele is currently the National Spokesperson for Medtronic Diabetes. She a Type 1 insulin dependant diabetic and an insulin pump wearer. Adele travels around the country sharing the trials and triumphs of living with diabetes with other patients, families and medical professionals. She hopes to encourage others to take control of there own lives by exercising, eating right and using insulin pump therapy. Adeles passion for music equals her passion for people.
