His music can best be described as bridging the gap that exists between the church and the streets. Jesus Christ brought this young man out of a life on the streets that would have eventually lead to jail or death. He trusted in the words that Jesus was saying to him, and he continues to give praise and thanks through his music for everything the Lord has done for him. Jerome mixes elements of hip-hop and r&b to bring his musical ministry to the masses. His sound can best be described as Holy Hip-Hop. Jerome proves that you can praise our lord and savior Jesus Christ and still be able to move to the beat of a great song.
