In the Feb. 2005 Offbeat review, "Adam's Attic in Radioland", Jeremy Deibel writes, "I could actually picture their shiny pop-rock played right in between bands like Nickelback and Hoobastank. ...The discs alterna-lite closer 'Rescue Me' ...on the WB... 5 MP3 Songs POP: Today's Top 40, ROCK: Modern Rock

Details: In June 2004, Adams Attic teamed with gold recording artists and producers, Caleb Guillotte and Mark Miller, to record "...in the Blink of an Eye". In January 2005, Adams Attic released the album featuring Autumn dubbed a soldiers anthem. Autumn is a very emotional song, which is already sweeping the nation and seizing stunning reviews followed closely by Torn and Not Enough. People are connecting to Autumn. The bands front man, Joe Henry, said, Its our anthem for the troops for leaving their families and standing up for something bigger than themselves. We cannot forget the real American heroes, our men and women risking their lives overseas. In late February 2005, Adams Attic formed an alliance with the Soldiers Angels Foundation pledging to give the charity a percentage of the proceeds from every online purchase of the album, "...in the Blink of an Eye", featuring Autumn. Due to the overwhelmingly positive reception of Autumn, Adams Attic has been invited to make several appearances and performances specifically to honor the U.S. military, which include: Feb. 3: Naval Air Station Joint Reserve Base New Orleans Plaquedilla Parade Party. May 18: About Base, a televised program about the military. May 28: Six Flags "Military Appreciation Days: Operation Fun" in New Orleans. Memorial Day weekend celebration. May 29: Plaquemines Parish Seafood and Heritage Festival at Louisianas Medal of Honor Park. Memorial Day weekend celebration. July 3: Walking with Heroes: 4th of July Extravaganza at Ft. Carson Army Base in Colorado Springs. In June and July 2005, Adams Attic is logging all-ages concert dates from the east coast to the west coast in cities like Orlando, W. Palm Beach, Miami, Los Angeles, and Costa Mesa. More cities are expected to be added. The band consistently directs their focus, releasing their unbridled enthusiasm into a tight, energetic live show that thrives on Adams Attics refreshingly positive worldview. Finally, a band that doesnt retreat into the tired well of angst and despair yet still exudes passion, power, and rock and roll sexiness...
