An off-kilter, yet strikingly synchronized alternate (2CD) soundtrack to Hitchcocks suspense masterpiece, Psycho" with eclectic musical stylings. 25 MP3 Songs POP: Pop/Rock, AVANT GARDE: Sound Collage Details: WWNT? Jackson Pollack would likely have appreciated JoKr. Painting on an audio canvas, JoKr likes to weave. Using multiple strands of storyline, subject matter, musical stylings and desire to let randomness/chance enter the creative recording process, the songwriting duo of David Joost and Terrin Krantz have fashioned their latest musical statement. PSYCHOsync, a double CD offering serves as an off-kilter, yet strikingly synchronized alternate soundtrack to Alfred Hitchcocks suspense masterpiece, Psycho. JoKrs work provides audio response to the stark, sometimes disturbing black and white imagery conjured for the movie viewing public in 1960, with a multitude of trippy aha! moments similar to those forged by the legendary Dark Side of the Moon/Wizard of Oz mash-up. Adding further color to the musical palette, JoKr places yet another story line into the mix, inserting excerpts from William Shakespeares Romeo Juliet, with all the roles being performed by the Macintosh computers speech function. The musical brushstrokes of PSYCHOsync draw from a staggering roster of influences. First and foremost are other sweeping concept albums: Pink Floyds Dark Side of the Moon and The Wall, The Beatles Sergeant Peppers Lonely Hearts Club Band, The Whos Tommy and Quadrophenia. The listener will also notice similarities to classic double LPs of rich variety, such as The Beatles White Album, Todd Rundgrens Something/Anything, Elton John's "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" and Fleetwood Macs Tusk. This work also pays homage to and bears the influence of a host of other musical giants. Tom Waits. Bruce Springsteen (Nebraska and solo acoustic tours). Robin Man of 1000 voices Zander (Cheap Trick). Bono singing other peoples lyrics over U2 music. Cinematic scores. Jeff Beck. Carlos Santana. Lindsey Buckingham. Elton John/Bernie Taupin. Roy Bittan. Laurie Anderson. Madonna. Lynyrd Skynyrd. Warren

Zevon. The tambourine playing of Ray Charles Raelettes. Led Zeppelin. Jesus Christ. Superstar. Bob Dylan. The Who Sell Out. Broadway composers like Stephen Schwartz, Alan Menken, Rodgers Hammerstein, whose clever internal rhymes move the plot. As well as traditional American folk, gospel and country western. Like the film Psycho which inspires it, close attention to JoKrs PSYCHOSync rewards the listener with surprises around every corner and new discoveries with every play. PSYCHOSync" is now available from CDBaby.com, Amazon.com, Apples iTunes store, and many other online music services. What would Norman think? Indeed.
