Details: This planet to me is often a jungle. Sometimes it is wild like a Tiger and sometimes as delicate as the petals of the flowers. I believe we all have been given beautiful, meaningful gifts and talents by our Creator... He plants the seeds and gives us the opportunity to go through the thorns of life to find the roses from which we make lovely arrangements to share with those we love. I have never enjoyed anything more than sharing Roses In The Rain. If you ever have a doubt in God's great creation, just look deeply into the heart of a Rose and you will find part of your own heart there. Come sing with me in, Roses In The Rain... Eva JJ for loving me, always. For all those who have listened to me beg them to listen to "my new song," and those I would wake up from sleep to tell them I have another hit, will they please, listen--just one more time. Without my wonderful family and friends, I would be up Cripple Creek without a paddle. You are my life! You help form the pieces of my life's puzzle into total perfection, giving me parts of yourself to help make me who I am. Your love and loyalty is grander than fiction and I cherish it with a passion. The journey with you is God's greatest gift to me. Lora Kay Alexander, originally from Campton, a small town in the hills of Kentucky, knew by the tender age of five exactly what she wanted to be, but not only when she grew up, but right then. She wanted to be a writer and a singer, and at that moment she began trying to capture the beauty of the world, and the people around her, attempting to reflect that beauty back. She never stopped...with having written over 1000 songs throughout her lifetime, Lori was inspired to expand her horizon not only in music but freelance writing in many different fields. One of her fondest dreams is to see one of her published novels on the BIG SCREEN. That could be closer than a dream as a Literary Agency is offering her novel: Until We're Free for motion picture at present. Lori lives back and forth from the Dayton, OH area and her second home Nashville, TN, where she is President of Roses In The Rain Music Publishing with BMI, and recorded a new CD: Roses in The Rain, with Reba's Band. She wrote the original songs for the CD and is singing them with Reba's Band. She mingles and is friends with some of The Grand Ole Opry stars and sings to anyone who will listen. She has enjoyed her TV show: Country Unplugged, starring in her original music videos;listening to others sing her original songs. More than anything she wants to touch others hearts with her creations--that's what makes her happiest. Lori has been listed in the International Who's Who of Entrepreneurs, 9 consecutive years, for her music-based and freelance writing endeavors. She has been known to say: "You've got to dream before dreams can come true..and I dream BIG!" She is confident that God gives us each talents (like little seeds) and He wants us to "want" to enjoy developing them and share them with others. And that is her greatest passion!
