Acoustic, Amplified, Versatile, Mandocello solos comparable to Jimi Page, Harmonies, female vocals like Janis Joplin, Ani DiFranco. If u like Britney Spears, you will HATE us. animated, energetic, Mysti Mayhem Mandocello 11 MP3 Songs FOLK: Power-folk, ROCK: Acoustic Details: Writer Spellbound by Spellbox By ADRIENNE HARRIS Avenue Writer for The Alligator Gainesville, Florida Jammin' out the rock in the dark taverns of Florida is a duet guaranteed to stimulate your ear holes. The band Spellbox is composed of Mysti Dawn Mayhem and Shawn Spencer - two people who play as one, sound like 5 and captivate all. Mayhem rocks the guitar and Spencer rules the mandocello - a rare breed of mandolin he builds himself. There's no doubt that Mayhem's voice ranks high among the stars, comparable to Janis Joplin with a Tori-Amos-inspirational feel. Combined, the duo attacks the stage in a synchronous brilliance without one flaw of miscommunication. Their album, "Egyptian Death March," is worth adding to your collection of Gainesville bands that actually "made it". Spellbox toured to Los Angeles and back - returning to Gainesville last April of 2005. For a "behind the scenes" of their interaction with Kyle Gass Tenacious D, e-mail them. Their next album, which is currently being recording in Nashville, TN by Cactus Moser of the esteemed Highway 101, featuring Curtis Stone on selected bass tracks, Scott David on lead guitar, Cactus on drums, will be flown out with Miss Mayhem to L.A. where Kyle will produce alongside John Striker in the D's studio. Look out for their new album, "A Long Way to Rock", due out mid-November, 2005. This duo's music has been featured in the soundtracks of "Gootis", "Gootis Returns", "Bride of Gootis", "Totem" and many others which are featured on medicinefilms booking contact: 615-397-0493 myspace.com/spellbox spellboxer@yahoo.com
