A limited release (96 numbered copies) of claustrophobic cacophony, low-end rumbling and the torment of a dying civilisation. Dark, dark ambience that leaves you on the edge with only wonderment for support. 6 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Ambient, ELECTRONIC: Industrial Details: "Jeff Sampson and Sean Carroll (Embracing the Glass) team up with Brian Goodhue (Collision Sect). The trio bring out of one another a nervous, askew darkness. Hiss and fuzz, washes of bleak, grey tones, low-end rumbling, off-center electronics, and sporadic noises paint abysmal, inescapable catacombs. The album conveys a great deal of despair-filled blackness, with other hues, sickly and infected, seeping through. Sampson's vocals on "It's a Hollow Halo" evoke the distant beaconing light of a dying angel, hopelessly unreachable." -- Ryan Winns / From Dust
