Details: Every artist has their roots, a certain sound that becomes a signature throughout their career. For Nons3nse, the story began in the streets of Anaheim, surrounded by friends and family. The evolution of the Rated R sound can be traced to those very streets today. Nons3nse started to engineer his own sound back in high school with nothing more than an optimus mixer, two turntables, and a dream. In 2002, Nons3nse collaborated with Vinym and released "Rated R Coalition". With one album under his belt, Nons3nse set his sights on album number two. In the process of finishing up "The Focus Demo", Nons3nse also produced five tracks on the Dynamic Producer Los Angeles Chapter Mixtape entitled "Six Degrees of Separation". In the time between the two LPs, recording Brodii Split records and the Dynamic Producer Mixtape, he performed at the Viper Room, The House of Blues, The Slide Bar, The Galaxy and The Backalley with the band Brodii Split, also from Anaheim. Those shows just fueled his desire to drop a record that would reflect his desire to be one of the top producers in the game. Nons3nse is currently enrolled in the associates degree program KIT (Keyboard Institute of Technology) and also RIT (Recording Institute of Technology) at The Musician's Institute in Hollywood.
