Like I said before, Ive got a bit of a reputation for knowing how to make money online and I work very hard at making sure that is justifiably earned. When I was starting out, I was little more than a chicken running around without its head. I was buying this eBook and watching that video, trying to soak up as much information as I could before putting anything into play. When I felt like I had learnt enough information to begin, I still had no clear cut strategy. I was building AdSense sites, selling affiliate products and marketing resale rights. I was doing anything I could to make a dime and I wasnt even making may of those. I was working 60 hour weeks and not earning much of anything. I felt like I was swimming upstream, but most of all, I felt like I had no direction for what I should be doing. Every night Id start a new internet marketing project without giving any thought to why the previous nights project didnt work. I was more focused on following the letter of the laws than customizing the methods to work with what I was doing. I was working too hard and showing no results at all. It Was Then That I Discovered The Power Of Internet Video. I was reading a letter for an internet video product, much the same way you are reading this letter right now, and a light clicked on in my head. I realized then and there that to make money online, I couldnt be rehashing the same old ideas that people have been using for years. If I wanted to make money, and I mean real money, then I needed to be adventurous and willing to try the newest ideas. To confirm my idea, I quickly rounded up every eBook and video series that I had been using as a guide and looked at the copyright on them. Just as I thought, not one product had the current years copyright date on it. It was at that moment that I realized how foolish I had been. I promised myself to start taking risks online and that I wouldnt live by conventional wisdom anymore. That very day I started creating videos. I started posting them and circulating them around. I wasnt very surprised when the videos werent effective. I knew they needed to be modified and customized exactly right to work. This is when my life started to turn around. I spent months finding the right way to make money online with videos and Im telling you, the night where I started making the type of money I had hoped I could was one of the best nights in my entire life. You Can Make The Type Of Money That You Hope As Well. Let Me Show You How...
