Native American Music Awards nominee and multi-talented instrumentalist releases her debut recording on Oyate Music Recordings. Jazzy / New Age collaborations with Native Flute artist - John Timothy. 13 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Smooth Jazz, NEW AGE: New Age Details: The long awaited instrumental debut recording on Oyate Music by NAMMY nominated female Native American artist has received wonderful pre-release press and reviews from Indian Country Today, News from Indian Country and other Native American publications. Lisa LaRue is an extremely multi-talented instrumentalist from Oklahoma who has gathered Native American Music Awards nominations in 2001 and 2002 for her traditional recordings of Cherokee childrens music. "That Ol' Sofkee Spoon" successfully combines the diverse elements of jazz, R-n-B and traditional Native American instruments into a melodic and transcending movement of sounds and songs. Featuring the incredible talents of Ms. LaRue and longtime partner and fellow Oyate Music recording artist John Timothy (on Native flute, bass and guitars, That Ol' Sofkee Spoon is a throwback to "sitting on the front porch at sundown" types of songs mixed with a dose of New Age style piano / keyboard stylings..... Truly inspirational and deep rooted in Native American traditions with a spice of "new".....this is a great breakout recording for LaRue and cements her association with Native American label Oyate Music! A Must Have for enjoyers of transcendental instrumental music!! Available Now!
