Remarkably strong debut-album from the experienced musicians surrounding Marijn Wijnands. Fragile tracks that are authentic in their purity. MaRain is the first of her kind in Holland 12 MP3 Songs

COUNTRY: Americana, FOLK: Alternative Folk Show all album songs: Harbour Songs Details: Wouter Planteijdt and Marijn Wijnands met shortly after the release of Marijns debut cd Stills and they started to work together. She did some vocals at his solo albums and they recorded together and that was all very much fun and satisfying. Finally Wouter asked Marijn if she would agree if he would make an album with her voice and her songs. Because there was no pressure and no money it took some years. They recorded in rehearsal rooms and in their own houses. Wouter invited a bunch of very fine musicians to participate, and they all agreed this was very special and decided to form a real band. In 2007 the cd Harbour was finally ready with money and help from a lot of friends. Harbour was presented in Paradiso, Amsterdam, and got a lot of great reviews by the Dutch press. Marijn and band were compared to Lucinda Williams, Suzanne Vega, Sandy Denny, and Gillian Welch and the songs are told to be authentic, pure and deep. Country and psychedelic influences as well as sweet and haunting melodies and slow funky grooves are all part of the mixture. Americana but with a very personal touch(...) Wijnands sings pure and moving, sweet, but not unworldly, poetic and powerful in all her reserve." (quote from NRC Handelsblad, the major newspaper in the Netherlands) The band calls it SOULFOLK.
