An urban folk style with a reflection of the family and how it will be to live without war, violence and poverty. 15 MP3 Songs FOLK: Urban Folk, WORLD: Hawaiian Show all album songs: Can You Imagine Songs Details: Vaihi, Can You Imagine (TCD Production Koa001CD) I recall liking Vaihi's previous CD, Puko'a Kani 'Aina, quite a lot, and they've produced a CD even more impressive than the first. Long-time readers of this page (I'm coming up on four years doing this!) will recall that in general I dislike those piecy CDs, with a little of this and a little of that, songs thrown in in a desperate attempt to please everyone and find the one hook that will sell the CD. Bleagh. However, every now and then, it works, and whatever magic there is in pulling that trick off, Vaihi has it. This is a very well-done CD, with great music done with style and bounce. It takes a certain amount of chances, like the dual rap/ballad nature of the title cut, and pulls them off effortlessly. There are great vocals in "Stop the Rain," the new age intro of "Hush" flowers into a harmonic ballad, and the vintage doo-wop of "What's Your Name" are all appealing, as is the beautiful ballad "Ku'u Kapena Kele," the lush, gorgeous solo vocals in "Ka Maka Liko Lani," and the lively duet "Me and My Baby." The only flaw -- and it's a minor one -- is the use of synthesizer in "Te Rima O Te Hau" and "When I'm Alone." Vaihi doesn't seem to have a lot of studio clout behind it, and so I don't hear it very much on the local stations, but this CD deserves to be heard and enjoyed. Do yourself a favor and check it out at the local listening stations at Border and Tower. Susan Jaworoski VAIHI (Vai-Hee) 1. Water Spings Forth 2. Surfacing, to Emerge 3. Tahitian for "Hawaii" We are four local Hawaiian country boys who have begun our quest to sing and entertain over 12 years ago out of a small garage in La'ie. From our humble first gig (one microphone, one amplifier, BBQ at the Temple View Apartments in La'ie) to the present, we have continually tried our best to bring a little bit of the backyard flavor to everyone in ear shot. We have been lucky, thankful, and blessed to have had the opportunites

that have come our way. Without the unconditional love of our families, friends, and devoted fans, we would never have been able to do any of this. We have definitely come a long way, have a long way to go, and much to learn. Along with recording original music, appearing on several compilation CDs here and in Japan, traveling, and entertaining, we have been expanding into other special projects to come, as well as studio recording * Mauka Studio Production* as "Vaihientertainment LLC". Aaron Ka'onohi *Lead Guitar* Aaron shares many of his awesome talents of composing beautiful ballets, Hawaiian slack key guitar styling and most recently his skills in studio production to the Vaihi Band and has produced over 10 albums for other groups as well. Aaron is also the proud father of 4 big boys, Vaihi, Tevai, Tehau *Pene* and last but not least Vaiari'i. Samuela Langi Jr. *Lead Ukulele* Sammy adds his expertise of the tenor and baritone ukulele to the group along with his beautiful high range falsetto voice. His big boy heart and love for all people is radiant at all of Vaihi's appearances and performances. He is also known as "Braddah Sam" of the local hit T.V. show "Local Kine Grindz" which he co-hosts along with his beautiful wife, local radio personality "Lina Girl". Bruce Naluai *Ukulele* Bruce brings his rhythm ukulele, local style and vocal blend to the Vaihi recipe. He is also a loving husband to his wife Angela and proud father of two beautiful daughters Smylyn and Serene. Peter Lakatani * Bass* Piko offers his musical studies background to the gang with his love for the 5 string electric bass and his beautiful, clean high range voice. He takes pleasure in picking up the guitar and ukulele for the delight of playing music. Piko has been getting closer to finding the one special love of his life.
