Joe Nacco goes all out on his third release since leaving the indie cult classic band, HEAD. Joe says, "We recorded The Head of a Monkey in 3 days under the influence. This time we took 7 months and I went over every little fine detail of this album with a fine tooth comb, Brian Wilson-style. I spent a great deal of time getting all the correct instruments to capture the mood and meaning of every song. Plus we were all sober the whole time!" With "Lovelight" getting international airplay and "Inside My Room" being featured on the indie-film "Used People" before the album has even been released, look for "The Lost Art" to enjoy a great deal of success. Joe says, "The real goal this time was no slacking off. Every track 1-10 would be an extraordinary track in some fashion and unique in it's own way. I wanted to put something out where the listener wouldn't want to skip over any tracks, ever. I invite everyone to take a listen to each and every song. We really feel like we've accomplished what we set out to do." Songs you may have heard on the radio include "By Your Side" and "It's OK." "Inside My Room" is featured on the soundtrack for the indie film "Used People." What the critics say: "If you're looking for a fresh new artist with talent up the wazoo, you've found him. For a kid that got his humble beginning in the Capital District in Upstate NY, I am astounded by the eclectic influences he exhibits." - Meghan Reilly, Impose Magazine "He has a Beatlesque songwriting style that is all his own, combined with a distinctive voice that is instantly recognized." - Linda Fenoff, Greenville Press "Joe obviously has talent and a good country/pop/rock sound." - David Brice, Radio Network, New Zealand
