From the streets of New York City comes an album of raw edged power, passion and melody ... Tough as nails rock 'n' roll filled with hooks, attitude and Big Apple grime. 10 MP3 Songs ROCK: Punk, ROCK: Hard Rock Details: 'Sealed Works' was recorded by Kevin in early 2002 in France with Kevin's French backing band! It is available as a limited release through Laughing Outlaw Records. Awesome! THE KEVIN K BAND STORY The Kevin K Band has gone through various personnel changes since its incarnation in 1995. Originally founded with the bassist (Richie Molesso) and drummer (Madd Maxx Gallo) from Kevin and Alan K's Road Vultures, the bassist would be the first to depart rather abruptly after returning from acoustic shows in Chitose-city (Hokkaido) and Tokyo, Japan in May of 1998 (though years later Richie would re-emerge to play with Kevin again). With a follow-up tour planned for December in support of his album Rule The Heart, Kevin signed on guitarist Ricky Rat and bassist Toni Romeo from the Trash Brats to fill out the line-up. But only a month prior to the start of the Scene of the Crime tour, Maxx Gallo abruptly announced that he was not going to Japan (strangely enough he's now a house husband living in Japan). He was immediately terminated and replaced with Karl "Jerry" Durden of Virgin recording artists The Customers. Upon returning from Japan, Kevin was still without a full time backing band and getting ready to enter the recording studio for Magic Touch. Kevin would continue to use Karl, Toni and Ricky whenever possible, but their own projects did not allow them at the time to record. Again, Kevin would use Tin Pan Alley Studio in New York City, because of the "sound of the studio," the caliber of Patrick Klein's engineering and Patrick's intuitiveness of knowing exactly what Kevin wanted. But Kevin took the session one step further by using the staff as his musicians, all of which were highly accomplished artists themselves. Patrick Klein, currently of The Lizards on bass and guitar, Giovanni Fusco on drums, and returning again, Lorenza Ponc (Sheryl Crow Moby) on violin. From that point on

Kevin would never again settle for just one backing band for touring or recording. In New York City he usually uses Patrick "Spat" Fitzgerald and Cowboy Mark Rubenstein from Sour Jazz, but also uses Patrick Klein, Richie Molesso, Mark X -- and recently Michael Thimren (former Johnny Thunders guitarist) from Sweden, Jeff Crane and Dave Cuneo (of Rick Blaze and the Ballbusters). While touring the United States, which is now rare, he still uses Karl Durden and members of Trash Brats. In Germany, Italy and Austria he uses Chris Lakriz and Andi Hill formerly of Hollywood Teasze and on his two most recent tours of Spain, Germany, Switzerland and France (Pink Lingerie Tour -11gigs!- and Sealed Works Tour -18 gigs!!), his backing musicians were "Cosmik" Jack Leroy (ex-Bohemians, ex-Drive Blind), Ritchie Buzz (ex-Vengeurs, ex-Cheese) and Doc Ayolee Tijoux on drums of France's the Six Stringers. Kevin's long association with touring and recording with different musicians will only continue. "I can't see myself ever using only one band again," Kevin states. "Working with different musicians keeps things fresh and makes me look forward to being on the road or in the studio. It's how Rock and Roll should be - fun!"
