Careening through explosions, intricacies and unpredictable twists and turns, California's Nap Attack create their own instrumental brand of "un-rock". The trio, featuring a lead bassist and rhythm guitarist create a braided path of pummelling staccato and melodic passages. Complex and interesting guitar and bass work complements the erratic and precise drums, often experimenting with peculiar tempos and phase shift ideas earlier explored by avant-garde composers such as Philip Glass and Steve Reich. So take some caffeine pills and fall off the tire swing! This is rock that finds unexpected ways to be beautiful.
