Details: SYLVI MACCORMAC is an artist who works with sound. People describe sylvi's voice as having a rich and moving nature. Weaving elements of soundscape with music and voice her work resonates along the lines of Canada and Ireland. Reflecting on experiences through music: the mirror in the sea sylvi writes of spirit and soul, blues and bones, heart and home, intensely of passion, joy, pain, tragedy, and of loving Earth. We hope you enjoy sylvi's music and consider her work regarding writing, performing, recording, and soundscape in the areas of programming, publishing or communications _____ Raven Shadows (2006) Voices Wheels (2000) "macCormac's two current releases are like her e-mails: They make sense but are nearly incomprehensible. So there is a struggle to understand, not impossible, as there is an intelligence behind both CDs but a challenge nonetheless. Both start off as straightforward singer-writer fare in which macCormac impresses as a Joni Mitchell types but each gives way to tapes of conversation that create a lengthy audioverit that might be listened to once. Combine that with found sound and other abstractions and you have curios dressed as art" Tom Harrison, the province, june 20 2006 - canada.com/theprovince _____ Composers Miriam Rainsford and sylvi macCormac enjoy conversation and a cup of tea with cats and radio static across the waves mstation.org/sylvi.php Hear sylvi macCormac's music and interview with Dennis Bathory-Kitsch @ Kalvos Damian's New Music Bazaar - kalvos.org/shows/kalx0604.ram - yo able dis ! - kalvos.org/shows-2005.html - text image sylvi macCormac received honourable mention at the International Musique Electroacoustique Bourges, France (1999) and produced Uts'am / Witness CD
