

Website Security With Resell Right

Right now - hackers want to break into your website. Why? So they can send spam anonymously through your website - creating a whole heap of trouble for you in the process. And that's just the tip of the iceberg of what they want to use your site for. There's even more malicious things they might try to use your site for, like phishing (stealing personal details from people). And to make matters worse - online thieves are looking to steal your valuable content. As an example - I've seen many high quality eBook products ripped off, and then resold by spam. Am I painting an overly bleak picture? Well, I will admit that at the 'easier end' of the hacking market, there's simply web users who want to find the 'good stuff' on your web site for free. You know - people who try to access your eBooks and other pages for free, that only paying customers should ever see. And it's up to you to keep all your content and websites safe. However, it can be a lot easier than you may have thought...
