Details: Die With Me Tonight was created by David Frost of Roanoke VA, and expanded to include Laura Hofford on vocals in early 2008. "Die With Me Tonight" - the self-titled EP - is the band's first release, available via Radio-Active-Music.com. Press: "Die With Me Tonight produce a lot with such a simple line-up, David Frosts articulate programming and arrangement skills are coupled with Laura Hoffords seductive and emotive vocal whispers. She takes the listener through the opening moments of Follow serenading us, allowing us to join with her in the oblivion that she has dreamed up for these four minutes. Its dreamy, decadent and totally haunting. Fall Apart by contrast is raw, cutting and deep. Its more menacing and a touch darker than the opening track, it leads nicely into the hard-edged trip-hop of Hypocrite which continues to evolve from the shy opening. The follow-up tune is A Moment Of Reflection which brings about a slow machine-laden break allowing for Black to come on full pelt mixing a wash of turbulent electronics in with deep and proud vocals for a personal song with substance that attacks the senses and in turn, helps to pick up the pace of the album. Mass Deception and Severe continue on with the underlying dark themes of the album, balancing solid electro with soulful vocals for a thought provoking double-act. The final track on offer here is Yoked Together which makes for a heavy and very valuable upbeat end to an album with such sombre make-up. The bottom line is that this is a darkwave record, it will keep you hooked the whole way through and for better or worse, one of these very intense and brooding tracks is certain to push a button on your emotional register. Its a good body of work altogether, and it would be interesting to see how it is portrayed when taken out on the road.
