POP/ROCK/POWER BALLADS 21 MP3 Songs POP: Power Pop, ROCK: Americana Details: THE JUSTIN A.G. STORY In The Beginning... The Dream, In His Own Words All stories have a beginning and Justin's story began in his pre-teens when he got his first guitar. In Justin's own words: "It wasn't a very expensive guitar but it felt like the greatest instrument in the world to me. As I held it and slowly learned a few rudimentary chords, enough to play a song or two, I began to experience a whole new world. My imagination went wild as I fantasized about becoming that coveted teenage icon, a rock star. As the teenage years unwound and with the benefit of many years of guitar lessons and countless hours of solitary practice, I managed to become a proficient enough guitarist, although I never did attain the virtuoso level-a la Eric Clapton, Jimmy Page, Carlos Santana, and others in that league-that I had so coveted and dreamed about. That realization devastated me at first, but I soon turned my attention to another aspect of music. After some soul searching it became clear to me that what I truly loved was performing, singing and writing songs. In other words the full package, as I realized that a superlative lead guitarist is only one component of a great band. Consequently I started exploring and devoting much of my time to writing and developing my singing abilities. Of course I was realistic and fully aware that I did not possess the natural talent of an opera singer. But I also understood that it was not necessary to have a tenor's voice. I learned early on that in the pop and rock world, and in life as well, what is essential is to be an innovator, not an imitator." His Music and His Life Over the years, Justin has been involved in various facets of music. As an artist, he's evolved as a singer, songwriter, recording artist, producer and live performer.
