A musician since the 60's, now afflicted with Lou Gerhigs disease, George is unable to play his instrument of choice and has turned his talents to creating music on the computer. George loves music and derives great pleasure from this new form of creativity, as do the many fans that have begun listening to him. Unfortunately at the beginning of February/02 we learned that George lost mobility in the one remaining moving finger, which meant that he was unable to access his music software. In an effort to raise funds to help purchase a device that could be used hands free to access the music software, a bunch of artists at a now defunct site, put together a 2-cd set. We were able to sell some copies and the money was sent to George. Shortly after that, some of the AcidPlanet artists put together a compilation CD. This compilation was called the Reach Project. ... Howeveras is often the case with projects, this one took forever to get organized, and although we got as far as to master the CD, we were thwarted as to where we could place it for selling (We didn't think of CDBaby at the time) . Meanwhile, we had collected together all of George's own material, and compiled that into a CD, which we mastered and sent to George. Finally, we got it together and now we have it here at CDBaby ready for you to buy. The proceeds from all sales will be sent to George.
