GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel, JAZZ: Jazz Vocals Details: Jeanne Sheffield has a passionate heart, a heart that loves to sing. It all began at age three when she walked on stage un-announced in her little country town's auditorium with the determination to get up on stage and sing "The Tennessee Waltz" to her mother's surprise. Now, after a life time of acting and singing on national variety television in Los Angeles as one of the original Dean Martin "Gold Diggers", Glen Campbells's "Goodtime Hour", The Tonight Show, The Andy Williams Show and too many shows to mention, her passion still burns, but in a different way. Jeanne was a former Miss Memphis and first alternate to Miss Tennessee and is now known as Dr. Jeanne Sheffield, an ordained minister with a degree in theology, an author, composer, and etiquette and faith columnist for two independent news papers in the surburban areas of Memphis, Tennessee. She offers her concert "We Can Change The World" to churches and organizations all across America and features many of her original songs from her CD, "Make Me Your Instrument" and her non-seasonal cantata, "The Touch of Jesus". She also includes a special message which the Lord gives her. Dr. Jeanne's other passion in life, besides Jesus Christ and music is her deep concern for America's Youth. Her book, "Gracian de Paul, Transforming America's Youth, can be found at authorhouse.com, amazon.com, barnes&noble.com and her website which is: jacksonbooks.com/songbirdministries. All of her endeavors are Christ-centered with her goal and purpose to bring the kingdom of God to everyone she meets.
