The famed film star, Sabu, reprises his role as Mowgli, the child raised in the wilds of the jungle in the audio-book presentation of the Rudyard Kipling classic. Winner of three Academy Awards including best musical score. Recorded shortly after the original 1942 films release, this is the first time that these original Victor Records recordings have been released in their entirety on compact disc. This historical and collectible session is narrated by Sabu and features the amazing score by Miklos Rozsa (Ben Hur). In the same spirit as Peter and the Wolf, an orchestral instrument represents each animal character. So descriptive is the music that the instruments clearly assume the character of the beasts, mood, or environment. Consequently, throughout the entire score, the music is as clearly identifiable as a painted picture.
