A mix of R&B and Smooth Jazz with messages and sensitivity about life and love. 6 MP3 Songs

URBAN/R&B: R&B Pop Crossover, JAZZ: Smooth Jazz Details: "Tomaca" (TO-MAY-SHA) translated in Chinese means "full of sound." We like to add the word "beautiful" with that. She's known as "soul and fire." Tomaca L. Govan is a dynamic vocalist and entertainer who really gets the crowd into what she's doing. Influenced by the greats - Aretha, Chaka and Ella - everywhere she goes, people feel the energy and speak of her "amazing voice." She can sing songs in ANY key and in the styles of Opera, Jazz, R&B, Gospel Classical. She focuses in the R&B and Smooth Jazz genre. Tomaca emerged as a solo artist to write and perform songs that matched her own vibe and stage energy. She created all of the songs on her first cd, "Can't Replace A Hug" which is currently on sale and gaining airplay on radio stations throughout the U.S., Japan, Australia and Germany. The next recording project is expected to be released late 2005 and will feature tunes by songwriter Billy Nichols, renown bassist Taddy P. and others in addition to Tomaca's original works. Tomaca was featured complete with interviews on 78.9 fm in Japan and has been featured and interviewed on a number of radio stations in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Baltimore. She was awarded a New England Foundation for the Arts (nefa) Meet the Composer grant. Tomaca's song, "Can You Give of Yourself" was chosen to be used for a national fundraising campaign for the New Orleans rebuilding effort after Katrina. Her music was favorably reviewed by Leigh Silberg of United Global Artists (Australia), "Unsigned" magazine (United States), in "The Basement" (England) and The Advocate (Connecticut). Tomaca has opened for Lomon Andrews, Jay Hoggard, Nick Mathis, Kitty Kathryn, Marion Meadows, Kool The Gang and The Impressions. She was selected from numerous candidates to perform at the New England Musicians Expo. After performing in Jamaica, she was hired to sing a televised commercial for the Jamaican Tourism Council. She performs at a number of prominent venues including the Foxwoods Resort Casino. Tomaca sings the National Anthem for UConn basketball games. Tomaca L. Govan plays herself in a small role in the movie "Elevators." All of Tomaca's music - including the new music as it is created - can be previewed and downloaded from her site. CD orders can also be made on TGovan.com. Listen for Tomaca's soul-stirring words and heart pumping rhythms on the air waves. See her energetic, crowd moving performances. It's the long awaited emergence of a new queen - Tomaca L. Govan.
