Yuri has traveled extensively between Moscow and the United States. He fell in love with Washington State and the Pacific Northwest. Yuri is 23; he lives in Seattle, and works as a Foreign Policy Consultant. The music has been inspired by his work with children, and the scenic beauty of the Pacific Northwest. The songs were composed in Moscow, Russia and on Orcas Island, Washington between 1996 and 2003. Kenton Lee began his music studies at the age of five in Minnesota. After one year of college he fell in love and married Benita Werner, his wife of more than 33 years, who is also a pianist. Following his graduation from San Diego State University as Music major, Kenton was invited to become the Minister of Music at Life Center in Tacoma, WA. He and Benita have served there since 1981. Kenton gives weekly direction to the music of Life Center, including the very popular Singing Christmas Tree. He and Benita have raised four very musical children who are successful, practicing musicians. Kenton also holds a Masters in Worship Studies from Liberty University Seminary.
