He has worked in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and England as a musician, composer, recording engineer and music producer for almost thirty years. He holds Bachelor and Master of Music degrees from McGill University, and has played, recorded, written and arranged music for numerous recordings, jingles and live theatre productions. A noted music educator at the secondary and post-secondary level, David plays a number of instruments- although the piano is his first and most-loved. He has also been a church music director and has led numerous community ensembles. Now based in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, this is Davids first solo CD. Having spent a great deal of time writing music for other peoples projects, he decided it was time to do one of his own. Delightful Voyages is a collection of instrumental selections for contemplation or meditation. It was originally conceived as a musical vehicle for relaxation but is filled with dense musical and harmonic textures, subtle rhythms as well as soaring- and often catchy- melodies. Recorded solo in his home studio, it features Davids piano, arrangement and production skills. Delightful Voyages draws you in and encourages you to envision your own personal journeys- either ones past or those yet to be discovered.
