A deep spiritual approach to worship using the sounds of modern and classical instrumentation, blending together for a melodically healing experience. 14 MP3 Songs GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel, CLASSICAL: Contemporary Details: You have heard about mother and daughter duets, father and daughter duets, and whole families singing together... Well, not yet has there been a mother and son duet group quite like this one. JohnNathen and Anna Marino have a serious approach to their spiritual experiences and portray them through all original music written mostly as a team. They also write individual songs of personal prayers, but all of them share synchronization with their voices in beautiful harmonies that literally have touched and changed the lives of their listeners. Their approach is to bring restoration and peace to troubled hearts and encouragement to those who already know the awesomeness of God. The Marinos have an exclusive sound that is combined with classical instrumentation and blended with great passion for a sound all of its own. Because most of the music is written from a scriptural basis, they have been considered as Psalmists as their music penetrates into the troubled hearts of man. Many have replied that the music has brought them to tears, and has literally pointed them to God. The Marinos are not entertainers; they minister in a way that when you listen for yourself, you can not deny that their music is truly anointed by God and has the power to change lives.
