Details: Rachael Bell is a singer/songwriter and guitarist from London who until recently appeared professionally as "RachaelRachael." She performs and records in a variety of musical styles, from acoustic soul to R&B to hip hop, all of which are unified by the expressiveness of her voice and the honesty of her lyrics. Originally signed to Sony/Epic Records in London, Ms. Bell has for the last two years released independent CD's on her own and with other UK musicians. The latest such effort, "Colour Me Blue," a collaboration with Brighton-based guitarist and composer Ross King, was recently released on iTunes and has received uniformly outstanding reviews, among which include: "[A] wonderful piece of dreamy, laid-back pop. Reuben's Thread provides the slowpaced, atmospheric groove, while Rachael adds her deep and soulful vocals to the mix - she keeps it smooth and subtle, letting her voice woo us with gentle skill. Very nice." (Mish Mash Music) Ms. Bell's musical talents have also received critical acclaim in the United States. A popular New York entertainment magazine has described her as a British singersongwriter with a smooth soul edge. (Time Out New York, Nov. 22, 2007). Soul Tracks, the number 1 ranked soul music website, selected her as a Featured Artist for January. Her songs have twice in the last year been selected for potential licensing by panels of publishers and record label executives in songwriting competitions held by the Songwriters's Pitch-a-Thon of New York (SPONY) and sponsored by BMI and ASCAP. Her first single, Its About Time from Colour Me Blue, is in rotation on 4DaSoul.com, NeoSoulcafe.com, Soulsoundsradio.com, and other leading soul music websites and web radio stations, as well as on soul music FM radio stations, including WHCR 90.3 FM The Voice of Harlem in New York and KAZI FM in Austin, Texas.
