A hit on the festival circuit, the movie is currently being distributed through The Weinstein Company/Wellspring and is now available on DVD at Amazon, Best Buy, Netflix, etc. The film sparked an Oscar controversy last year when it spearheaded the resurrection of the dormant "Best Original Category" which had long been on the books of the Academy but had never been activated. The Academy literally rewrote their rules in response to this movie and this soundtrack. "A not-to-be-missed indie musical about couples romping through open houses starring Anthony Rapp from 'Rent'" - DVDTalk.com "OPEN HOUSE boasts Anthony Rapp in a major singing/acting role (he stars in this years big film production of Rent, directed by Chris Columbus). Rapp plays Barry, a real estate agent who is uniquely zany, striking the note of whimsy that makes this movie so perfectly what it is both a throwback and a flash-forward to some new kind of light-hearted cinema....witty and, at times, as zany as a Marx Brothers comedy!" - CityWeekly "A funny, fast-paced and above all very unique film. A film filled with interesting and hilarious songs about real estate that you wont be able to get out of your head." - FilmThreat "OPEN HOUSE proves to be an AWESOME hangover movie, its got everything. Set in Los Angeles, this is a hilarious, crazy movie centered in the real estate world. Its a comedy, a mystery, a MUSICAL! WTF? Thumbs up to director, Dan Mirvish." - The Improper "A must-see favorite! Super cast!

Kellie Martin scores as a yuppie fond of quickie sex in strange houses; Sally Kellerman, as a boozy, unsuccessful agent, delivers a torchy realtor's lament; and Ann Magnuson shows up very late and nearly walks off with the whole movie." - Baltimore CityPaper "In a rare and demanding move, all singing was performed and recorded live on set. Lovely!" - Variety "People loved it. It was funny. And it's about time somebody made a Real Estate Musical!" - Carloss James Chamberlin, Senses of Cinema "Mirvish, who is perhaps best known for co-founding the Slamdance Film Festival, creates a very funny and sardonic atmosphere that will have you laughing throughout...A genuine delight! The musical numbers are nothing short of hilarious." - Larry Katz, WTTR Radio "Awesome! This is a hilarious, crazy movie! Thumbs up to director, Dan Mirvish; Sally Kellerman is excellent!" - Jim Muscarella, The Improper "A triumph...unique and flavorful! The show is clearly stolen by Kellerman whose "Sellin' A Dream" song is the most completely marketable and pleasing thing in the movie. Hopefully, the Academy will remember it come nomination time because a proliferation of films like 'Open House' could usher in a new era in the musical genre." - Jonathan Hickman, EInsiders.com "Among its many send-ups are a showstopping duet, 'Sellin' a Dream,' performed by Sally Kellerman and Jerry Doyle." - Regina Weinreich, The East Hampton Star "A crowd favorite." - S. Mark Rhodes, Films in Review "It's Fantabulous! With Open House, Dan Mirvish has crafted the first great musical of independent film. Amongst a great cast, Sally Kellerman, Ann Magnuson, and Kellie Martin shine as they deliver Mirvish's toe-tapping tunes which you won't be able to get out of your head. Stylistically, it's a ingenious blend of Rodgers Hammerstein, Preston Sturges, and Robert Altman. One of the songs is entitled 'Do You Love this House?' And the answer is a definite yes!" - Terry Keefe, Venice Magazine
