EASY LISTENING: Love Songs, POP: Delicate Details: Meade Skelton was born on April 8th, 1979, in Virginia, the youngest of five children. He began playing piano at age three and started singing even before that. Growing up his life revolved around music. When he was five-years- old he decided that someday, no matter how long it would take, he would have a song among the Top 20. So Meade's musical journey began. First by playing piano. He loved performing. At age 10, won first place for an original composition in the Classical vein, called "Victory". Later, his focus turned to singing. Trajedy struck at age 11, when he lost his mother to cancer. But in her honor, he kept on going with his music. He began singing all across Virginia, Maryland, and West Virginia by his early teens. He sang at countless barbeques, radio stations, retirement homes,street corners- anywhere folks would listen. He made recordings of his music and passed them around for his school classmates to listen to. He was a natural entertainer, but was not well liked by his classmates who often made fun of him, as he was awkward and overweight. When he was 18 he moved to his late mother's hometown of Richmond. Since then he has been heavily involved the Central Virginia Music Scene, performing with such entourages as The Kate Lawton Band, The Gravity Hounds, The Floating Folk Festival, and others. Meade writes songs that are honest and from the heart, but never pretentious. And there's always a touch of humor in each of his songs.... even those sad ones. Which is what makes his style so unique. But moreover, it is his deep rich Clasically trained Tenor Voice which makes him stand out. Meade is a "Singer's-Singer", blessed with a voice of rare and fine quality. Although a "Country Singer", his voice is more Mario Lanza than Hank Williams. Aside from his musical pursuits, Meade also enjoys acting and has appeared in several plays and on local television many times with his popular "Meade Skelton Show". For more information go to:
