With Pneumatic Detach, Brink mixes thick, harsh rhythms with electro-industrial sensibilities to beautiful effect. His music is both oppressively brutal and intelligently arranged, leading the listener down a claustrophobic corridor of intricate noisy rhythms, expansive ambience, and destructive and surprising compositions. Locally renowned in the Northeastern US where he makes his home, Pneumatic Detach's live shows are powerful electronic performances that put the knob-twiddling of many electronic artists to shame. If you're not altogether familiar with PD now, just remember that we warned you - this shit is about to break out of the underground and into the pantheon of the electronic valhalla.
