Personal complements have been extended by fellow musician /artists including, Quincy Jones, George Benson, Isaac Hayes, to name a few. The Songs This Smooth Romantic collection of songs contain standards written by some of the greatest composers of all times. Among them, Frank Sinatras recording, All The Way, composed by Sammy Cahn. Jimmy Van Heusen. Another beautiful rare standard is Everything Happens To Me, a tune written by Matt Dennis and Montgomery Adair, recorded by Nat King Cole. Also included with this Smooth Romantic collection is the beautifully written masterpiece A Cottage For Sale, composed by Larry Conley Willard Robinson. This song was recorded and made popular by the legendary, Billy Eckstine. Another beautiful ballad is There will Never Be Another You, composed by Mack Gordon Henry Warren, performed by the Ed Robinson Jazz Trio, live in-studio. The interpretation of these great standards bring a self replenishing splendor that grows increasingly sweeter with each play. Of the remaining seven songs, written and arranged by Ed Robinson, one song deserves special attention: If Only. At the session, in Nurnberg Germany, Ed was joined by two very special guests; Diane Elias Nancy Harmesten. The voices of these two international Opera Divas singing together produced a quality so rich the identity of their superb ability is unmistakable.

This rare combination of Classical Diva voices blended with the creative arrangement of soulful smooth jazz melodies is an event of beauty and majesty to behold. The Musicians. This unique project features a great line up of legendary musicians. The list begins with bassist Hubie Crawford (acoustic upright and electric) also heard on a number of Jazz recordings by guitarist, Earl Klugh. Bobby Bachinger, a talented drummer percussionist from the Barvarian region of Germany, is also heard on recordings by popular singer, Sade. Bobby Franklin, a multi-talented Guitarist and drummer can be heard on a number of recordings by the late great Curtis Mayfield. The Jazz guitar of Paul Weeden, genius and former member of the legendary Duke Ellington orchestra, is a valuable element to the arrangement. To sweeten the lineup, piano and keyboard work is performed master of the keys, Ed Robinson, a genius in his own right. His arrangement of the song, There Will Never Be Another You(Jazz trio style) features the accomplished works of Bob Franklin on drums and the incomparable genius on electric bass, Fred Guy Hutson. Notice of mention is also extended to the fine and talented musicians of Finland , Norway Norway who contributed so greatly towards to the success of this project. In the song, Special, listen to the voices of How Many Sisters a group in Helsinki. Their voices are dynamite! Now are you beginning to see values of musicianship in this project? Several of these performances were recorded live in Switzerland. Others, were recorded in Helsinki Finland, Stockholm Sweden, Nurnberg Germany and Detroit, USA. Watch for the next CD release featuring kool, original, refreshing and free- form piano expressions. This will be a unique project to include in your collection of very special music!!
