Hailing from Canada, Maggie moved to New York in 98' and only a few years ago realized her passion to make music. With endless inspiration from friends, family, love, experience, and the magic of the universe all of her songs are original and come genuinely from the heart and soul. Discovering the legend Jeff Buckley, left Maggie with an urgency to explore her love of music, and thus create something for the people...for everyone...music that beyond barriers gives listeners something to feel, to relate to, induce a desire to dance, sing along, cry, laugh, reflect...and to think about things that can make a difference in this sometimes harsh world. Growing up listening to the likes of The Beatles, Neil Young, Cat Stevens, Van Morrison, Elvis, Tracy Chapman and Joni Mitchell among others has helped to evolve her diverse style. She is constantly evolving as a musician, further developing her unique sound while working on new songs for the next album.
