His journey through his lifetime has been to discover what it was he knew! Part of this journey entailed discovering and knowing what is 'not' as a part of knowing what 'is' - giving him a profound understanding towards the meaning and purpose of his life. It was apparent at this early age that Art and Music were going to be the tools that would provide the insights, experience and wisdoms that he has now come to understand. He was always drawing and started writing songs at an early age whilst living abroad in Borneo with his parents. He was involved with several local bands there. On returning to England he attended Art College and formed a College band. After leaving Art College he set up his own portrait studio in a number of holiday resorts and became actively involved with the resident bands. It was during this period that his interest and involvement in Healing and Spiritual development grew. Recognising the potency of music as a medium to channel healing energy, he started writing music with this intent and formed a band named Pegasus - a progressive New Age melodic rock band, and performed at one of the earliest Mind, Body and Spirit festivals held at Earls Court London in 1979. Nick then worked several years for a Music Copyright company in London as a licence negotiator, issuing licences for use of music in television, film, video and advertising productions. This gave him the motivation to set up his own music label - Wandering Minstrel Music, and initially produced four albums that represented the Four Elements of Earth (Earthdance), Air (Out of the Mist), Fire (Temple of the Sun) and Water (The Riversong Suite). Nick rapidly made a name for himself in and around the festivals and fayres that were growing which promoted a spiritual, ecological and holistic awareness. This also included the prestigious Glastonbury Festival in the UK performing with the fun band he called Crazy 4 Animals (inspired by his then 12 year old daughter Anna). He also gave a performance with this band at the first 'New Age/Ambient Dance' club in London's Soho called The Seed. During the period prior to and during the creation of a double album project entitled Celestial Gateways and Tribal Awakenings with his newly formed band Elfin Spiral, Nick was gaining many spiritual insights and teachings which inspired him to develop his own psychic gifts which manifested through his artwork and subsequently enabled him to become a channel for Spirit - facilitating the drawing of portraits of the Spirit Guides that work, empower and support humanity on its journey towards self awareness, spiritual expansion, peace and fulfillment. This work has connected him to many other countries around the world as well as to the Stars! Nick has also released several other albums under Elfin Spiral/Wandering Minstrel Music including With Eyes Wide Open - which was channeled through an Angelic/Multi-dimensional being known as Rael, Selections - a collection of tracks from all his previous albums, and Sing for You (Thoughts on a Day) - a collection of songs written and sung by Nick. Nick has also just released his latest album from Elfin Spiral - Pleiadean Love Dance in 2005. Nick is currently in the process of writing and recording a new instrumental album with Violinist Trevor Lloyd under the working title of Flowers is the Garden. He has also published his first book By the Light of the Star (An Exploration into Creating Your Own Reality) which describes his unusual journey that led to the insights and tools he discovered, enabling the CREATION of one's own REALITY.
