Chillin' downtempo electronica latenight smooth jazz...with manic moments. 12 MP3 Songs

ELECTRONIC: Trance, ELECTRONIC: Techno Details: "Radio Flyer" is the latest project from Under The Radar's producer Richard Souther. Written over the course of several months between the hours of 11pm and 5am; there is a dream-like quality to much of it. Although the music covers multiple styles of playing, it gravitates toward the "downtempo/chillin' area" complete with some electronica blips and smooth jazz elements mixed in. At the time of writing this album, Richard says he was listening to an eclectic combination of composers. "The iPod was shuffling between Cal Tjader, Bjork, John Coltrane, Moby, Duke Ellington, Ryuichi Sakamoto, Vangelis, George Gershwin, Wes Montgomery, David Raskin, Mark Isham, Miles Davis, BT and the Dixie Dregs." Although Radio Flyer's sound is unique, you might hear their influences at different times. One way to describe "Radio Flyer" is: "it's the kind of music that reminds you of something you've never heard before." ABOUT UTR: Richard Souther (AKA "UNDER THE RADAR") is a four time Grammy nominated recording artist who's music has been used most recently in the HBO award winning film "Iron Jawed Angels", NBC Dateline: Secrets behind 'The Da Vinci Code', and Renault. Richard is best known for is groundbreaking 1994 album "Vision: The Music Of Hildegard von Bingen, which won the Billboard Classical/Crossover album of the year award.
