"Cliff Rubin and his Walk Across Fire Band will inspire, motivate and uplift your soul to attain glorious heights of love, joy and enthusiasm. Use this music as I do and I guarantee you will be blessed." Terry Cole-Whittaker, Author and Lecturer Music Industry Background Cliff Rubin's spiritual journey has led him through the rise and fall of a musical career in which he toured in the acoustic act, Essenss, started several other bands, gained recording and management deals with Warner Brothers and Delta Records and toured nationally and throughout Canada with bands that include Bachman Turner Overdrive, Jimmy Buffet, Richie Havens, and Taj Mahal. Though he obtained moderate success and nearly achieved stardom...something was wrong. The pain of facing the fact that he was missing some vital ingredient necessary for his own personal development as a joyous human being, sent his world in music crashing down around him. Cliff left his music career. Soon, he became so ill he, was hospitalized. After being told he might die, he checked himself out of the hospital, knowing this to be a spiritual crisis, beyond the physical evidence. In Asheville, North Carolina, he spent the next six years healing and changing his relationship with life. When the time felt right, Cliff re-entered the world of music from his soul. He spent five years as the music director at the Center for Creative Living, writing and performing songs that spoke to his own transformation. These songs affected others so strongly, he was asked to record them. Cliff's transformation has affected every area of his life, his music comes forth with the ease and lightness of that which is born of spirit...and success is judged by the joy in his life and his ability to pass it on to others. His most recent project, "Dreamers and Children" was released in December 2006 through Crossroads Records. Heart and Soul

Cliff Rubin's passion is to celebrate the good in life that is all around us. His work reflects the power that is within each of us and is a musical mirror of the awakened spirit in everyday relationship. Cliff's performances have the power to incite the spirit of love in family relationships. People are touched, changed and inspired in his concerts and take home with them the feeling that they are capable of more love, hope and joy than they have ever allowed themselves to know. It is this reflection of everyday human relationship as experienced through the deep well of the soul that offers a picture of what is truly available to us in life. Cliff's work is as timeless as it is fresh, and connects with the eternal that lives within us all. Cliff knows the power of his music and the message it reinforces in group consciousness. Use Cliff's work as many others do, to stir the depths of your being and remind you of your oneness with spirit. Cliff, coming from the background as a music director, can fit into any service or program. He plays guitar and sings with or without backing tracks, as fits the situation. His fees are negotiable.
