An instrumental bass and drum fury. These Ninjas will show no mercy. 9 MP3 Songs ROCK: Instrumental Rock, ROCK: Progressive Rock Details: It was on a stormy night, some years ago, when two ninjas were born in the 626 (then 818). It wasn't until their formative years when these two young ninjas would meet and become musical partners and collaborators, honing their skills first on rock music, later on jazz under the name "bra'ka dOm". As any good ninja knows, it would take them years of practice and patience to get where they are today. Now, Indo-Ninja (bass) and Outdo-Ninja (drums), or Ninja Academy as they are collectively known, execute their unique styles effortlessly and completely with the precision of a Katana blade. Their instrumental compositions, which go by names like Unce, Kung Fu Grip, and Ninja Ho Down, sneak up on you and kick your ass with short, swift strokes of a skilled ninja. These Ninjas don't mess around. They work mostly alone, but they sometimes invite guest ninjas to step up and show what they got. Ninja Academy is available for all types of events, including but not limited to, concerts, showcases, quinceaneras, baptisms, and martial arts practices. They can be reached by smoke signals or flaming arrows with a note attached, but most easily at ninja@ninjaacademy.com.
