Warm, acoustic original songs with the occasional bite -- crafted by one of Vermont's finest songwriters, delivered in Casey's "one in a million voice" (Vermont Public Radio), and backed up by a stellar band. 13 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, COUNTRY: Bluegrass Details: Native Vermonter Patti Casey has established herself as a national figure on the new folk/pop and bluegrass scene. With several impressive contest wins (A Prairie Home Companion's 2001 Talent From Towns Under Two Thousand, Kerrville Folk Festival's 2000 New Folk Songwriting Contest, 1995 Chris Austin Songwriting Contest winner and 1997 alternate, 2004 South Florida Folk Festival Songwriting Contest Finalist), a solid performance history starting in the early 1990s, and a voice that is "one in a million" (Vermont Public Radio) and "evocative" (the Boston Herald), Casey delivers sweet, soulful, and passionate gems crafted with keen observance. Casey's warmest, most engaging collection to date, "The Edge of Grace" offers listeners 13 original songs spanning such diverse genres as southern White gospel, Celtic, folk-pop, bluegrass, and swing, and features guest musicians Pat Donohue and Gary Raynor (Guys' All-Star Shoe Band) and Moondi Klein (Seldom Scene and Chesapeake). Known widely for her performances and compositions with the New England-based Bluegrass Gospel Project, Casey here steps out once again on her own, drawing together an impressive collection of bandmates and displaying an ever-maturing writing sensibility. Her voice is, as always, riveting and incomparable. "top contender for...album of the year" -- Seven Days
