AWW is comprised of a dynamic pair of singer/songwriters. Melissia Terlato and Daniel Scherl spearhead the group, sharing writing and performance credits on all their work. Having met in college in Buffalo, NY, the two not only share a strong foundation and love for music, but a friendship spanning many years that allows them the flexibility and understanding to work together that few artists achieve. This relationship, and their strong beliefs in life, love and the expression of common human situations, allows the listener to feel like they are not hearing a CD, but rather, sitting in their living room with Melissia and Daniel having conversations about life.
