Passionate Acoustic Rock. Echoes of of Springsteen/Counting Crows/David Gray/Van Morrison 10 MP3 Songs ROCK: Acoustic, ROCK: Folk Rock Details: This is ultimately the tale of two musical journeys. The first started about fifteen years ago. It led from the suburbs of New York City to some of Greenwich Villages' most prestigious venues. It led from stages as the opening act for Warren Zevon and stretched as far as the Blue Bird Cafe in Nashville TN. Then... I got a job in a bank. I got married. We had a son. I learned to play golf. I lost most of my hair (shaved off the rest). I bought a series of bad second hand automobiles. I lost my job at the bank. I got a better job at a brokerage firm. I decided to let my hair grow (I looked like a cross between John Lithgow Peter Boyle). I shaved my head again (realizing that the skullett (derivation of "the mullett") was not a viable look for me. I lost the job at the brokerage firm. Got an even better job at a hedge fund (I'm still working there as we go to press...) We adopted a little girl from China. For ten years I did not take my guitar out of it's case...TEN YEARS...not even once. Then... I took the guitar out of the case. The words came. The chords came. The songs are still coming... The second chapter to this story is only beginning...
