European New Classic Soul 11 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: Soul, URBAN/R&B: Rhythm Blues Details: Finally after two and a half years, touring the world and introducing herself to new friends and lovers of good music in many different countries and all over The Netherlands, Tasha's World took some enforced time out to write and record album number two World Domination. The delivery of this album was delayed due to the overwhelming demand for live shows. The first album was a huge success, although not achieving global dominance, it was well received by the people that truly matter - the lovers of soul music at its best. The past two years saw Tasha's World receive an Nat West EMMA Award (UK), a Silver Harp (NL), and rave reviews in some of the most respected international music magazines. The self entitled album Tasha's World was first released in Japan and eventually followed by a licensing deal from the UK for Europe. Soon after, other record companies took serious interest in Tasha's World which led to a number of tracks appearing on various compilations around the globe. The album received rave reviews from some of the most respected international magazines including Blues Soul and Echoes magazine. Additionally, the album was voted one of the 'Best Albums of 2002'. Leading magazines from The Netherlands such as The Oor said that it was 'one of the best albums to come out of Holland ever'. For well known DJ's and connoisseurs of good music, massive comparisons were made to some of the best loved names in the music industry and was regarded as a real classic album. World Domination was recorded in London at the world famous Phoenix Sound studios in Wembley, London which has now been knocked down due to the development of Wembley Stadium and also at Future Sound Studios in the fashionable Islington area of London. The album delivers to you an amalgamation of talented musicians and producers from the UK, combined with TW from The Netherlands which is sure to put European Soul firmly back on the map and make our cousins from across the pond listen very carefully

indeed. This album draws on the clever wit and mischievous nature of one of Europe's most interesting artist where Tasha's World tells it as it is. Whilst being thoughtful to both sexes, she delves deep into the world of relationships, which is very reminiscent of her first album. World Domination kicks off with a song that was tried and tested at last years North Sea Jazz Festivals, both in South Africa and Den Haag, The Netherlands. "Past Lives" is a story of everlasting love which transcends time and ends up in the present day. It is a typical Tasha's World song.....if you are already familiar with her music, you will understand that comment and if you are new, you will soon come to understand. The first single to be taken off the new album for release in The Netherlands was Glowing (Growing). This song has drawn on some of the best musicians available in the UK. You can hear the fun in the music which will make you tap your fingers, if you are driving, dance if you are in a club and sing along if you are in the shower. It's a very uplifting and upbeat song that typifies the new sound of Tasha's World where we drew on the old and the new of music. In doing this we made a wonderful blend of music that makes you feel as if you know it even though are you are hearing it for the first time. The shift in sound is called "Old Skool Nu Skool". Nu Soul is dead! Long live "Old Skool Nu Skool". Watch out for song number four on the album "Home Alone". A song that touches on the subject of the lone-female and includes in the song the immortal lyrics "I practice safe sex 'cos I'm always on my own". In this song you can see the growth of TW as a writer....just close your eyes and can picture every word of the story. Tasha's World has performed at some very interesting places over the past years, such as Sofia in Bulgaria, London's Jazz Cafe, SOB's in New York, Eritrea, Cape Town, Pretoria, Suriname, and of course all over The Netherlands. With this album "World Domination", we expect TW to reach an even more wide and varied audience. Now with her new album, you find Tasha's World happily still working with her production company The Klinik Music Productions which gives her the freedom of self expression. The new album is licensed to PIAS (Play It Again Sam) in the Benelux region. Tasha's World delivers to her valued friends (not fans, but friends) another classic collection of beautifully written and beautifully composed songs, as she continues to keep real music alive and kicking.
