Adult alternative Power pop with hints of Liz Phair, Sarah McLachlan, and No Doubt 14 MP3 Songs POP: Power Pop, ROCK: Funk Rock Details: The long awaited follow up to her successful debut, "If These Shoes Could Talk", unleashes a well-developed band with an edgier sound, memorable hooks and emotionally charged lyrics. The enhanced CD also includes the music video for the single, "Maybe." Singer/songwriter Jeddrah Schmit grew up backstage watching her father, Timothy B. Schmit, playing bass for The Eagles. Jeddrah's lifelong immersion into music created by some of the finest musicians in history has certainly effected her sense of song craft and lyrical substance. "Maybe" has already received unprecedented nationwide attention as the first track from an independent release ever to be included on Movie Tunes Radio and heard in over 20,000 movie theaters nationwide. The Los Angeles Music Awards has presented Jeddrah with awards for "Best Independent Marketing," "Best Female Singer/Songwriter" and "Pop Album Of The Year." Music Connection Magazine has included Jeddrah in their annual Hot 100 Unsigned Bands list for three years running, with reviews calling Jeddrah "...a high energy band that gives you the feeling they simply decided to throw a party for their friends and chose a venue as a location." They have also received airplay on influential Los Angeles Alternative radio station, KROQ Visit jeddrah.com
