Details: Accumulus is an accumulation of themes which came together to make album which leads you through a journey from a misty valley up to a mountain top and an imaginary star trip and back the different sections flow together so the 20 second tracks dont reflect the larger structure and miss a lot of the material. It has received a lot of positive feed back and people say that it has replaying in their homes on a regular basis , one couple wanted a signed copy for their wedding present as it had been a shared part of their relationship. Accumulus also received some good reviews in new age type magazines.Yoga teachers also say it works well with their classes. Ive played keyboards in rock and blues type bands but always wanted to play music with more space and feeling When I was young I dreamed of a piano that would play an orchestra and of course it came true and you can now produce music in your own space that was impossible a few years back. Since Accumulus Ive composed the sound track to a short film The Exponent which won its category at the Cambridge film festival, and done some TV commercials. I am currently working on some more piano orientated tracks and plan to create web site very soon, and continue to upgrade my studio setup.
