He quickly got his money together and bought a four track recorder, a microphone, and a drum machine, which a few were done with on this first album. Finishing up high school Saint thought only of ways to survive. He new music was always a huge passion of his, so he decided to pursue it. Leaving home at age eighteen 1200 miles away is where Saint would begin school in WinterPark, Florida to become a recording engineer. He then chose a life in the music business.
