Uncut Southern Horrorbilly 13 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Bluegrass, COUNTRY: Country Rock Details: STAB! by The Pine Box Boys Uncut Southern Horrorbilly Is there no pity for the lonely ladies of the American Murder Ballad? Buried in unmarked graves, their ghosts have been called out to in song for more than two centuries. No face, no form, only lonely names - Polly, Sally, Maggie, Eleanor. With no regard for decency, THE PINE BOX BOYS have raised these poor haints again through new songs of unforgivable deeds, guilt, and loathing. She is repeatedly shot, stabbed, cut, and ground into powder by a nefarious collection of bad men. For the past two years, THE PINE BOX BOYS have been hollering these mean songs at Bay Area audiences. Founded by Arkansan-in-exile Lester T. Raww, their music is a blend of Americana and bluegrass, often with dark overtones, often with up-tempo sincerity. Upon returning from Europe, The Pine Box Boys spent four days in the studio with The Alien Overlord recording this new album, STAB! These are what the boys call their bar songs. They opted for a lean production, trying to capture the sound of a loud, angry acoustic band bent on killing. As with 2005s ARKANSAS KILLING TIME, this new album takes a, um, whimsical look at murder and misery in a backwoods-y style. Although the songs have clearly been dragged, like a bloody sack, through some very tall bluegrass, they are unmistakably original. THE PINE BOX BOYS are: _Lester T. Raww- guitar, vocals; Alex "Possum" Carvidi - banjo, vocals; Col. Timothy Leather - bass; S. "Your Uncle" Dodds - drums.
