A sweet tasty blend of pop, rock, heavy folk, loud guitars and wicked harmony creates a truly satisfying musical meal. Geek Rock lives. 13 MP3 Songs ROCK: Jam-band, POP: Party Pop Details: Finally, a full-length album from AUGEAN STABLES, THE BEST BAND IN THE WORLD. Why the long wait for this frothy and spirited blend of Rock, Pop, Folk, Country and Blues? What the hell have these guys been doing? If you really wanna know, you'll visit us at augeanstables.com. Band personnel: Dave Riedel - Drums, percussion, vocals Wilson Rothman - Guitars, vocals Clint Bierman - Guitars, x-tra shiz, vocals Edward "Tex" Miller - Keyboards Nate Shields - Bass Tasty shiz you might not hear elsewhere: 1) The album was nearly called "Whitey Crackerman and the McBastards Sing Songs of Love." 2) Wilson nearly gets a nipplectomy in the studio one night when Dave, carrying his kick drum up the stairs, reaches the top and makes a hard left into Wilson's chest. 3) After too much guitar gza, Clint relieves himself on a live power line and nearly shorts out three square miles of Southern Jersey. 4) Tex shaves his head and nearly writes the word "Butt" on it in permanent black marker. 5) Dave nearly superglues his pants to the bathroom wall, "just to freak the cat out." 6) Nate nearly names his bass "Betty Sue," in honor of Betty Sue Brawley, who's doing hard time in Green Bay for anarchy. He writes the new punk anthem, "Let's Go to Fuckin' Hawaii," in her honor. Anyway, Dave, Wilson, Clint, Tex and Nate will love you if you love them. So buy the CD. You're guaranteed to love it and them and yourself. Nearly. Thanks in advance for reading the reviews of the album -- and writing one of your own. Peace.
